

Toronto by Lens

Paul Sanderson took this photograph of these cement silos on Cherry Street in the Port of Toronto earlier this year.

(Toronto By Lens is a photographic insight into the architectural environment. Submissions from readers — black-and-white, previously unpublished, non-returnable prints — are welcome. They should include date and location and be addressed to the Arts